- A limited number of copies of the Convocation Address given by Professor H. Northrup Frye are available in Room 65 of the Temporary Office Building.
- All University Food Service outlets will be closed Sunday, June 29, Monday, June 30, and Tuesday, July 1, with the exception of Atkinson Coffee House which will be open Monday, June 30 from 4:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. only.
- The Department of Physical Plant Stores will be closed on Thursday, June 26 and Friday, June 27, for the annual inventory stocktaking. No items except those required for emergency will be issued during these dates.
- Members of the York University Faculty and Staff Credit Union on or before March 31, 1969, should have received statements of their accounts to that date. If you have not received your statement, please contact Mr. B. Hile at 635-2394, as it is important that the audit verification letter, received with the statement of account, be returned to Mr. Hile to ascertain the accuracy of the Credit Union records.
- Maintaining full-time use of the university's extensive facilities as well as supplementing university revenues, York welcomes the conferences, seminars and meetings of many professional, cultural and educational organizations on the York and Glendon campuses this summer.

The Canadian Association for Screen Education recently held its meetings and displays on campus, and, for the past week and a half, the Bata International World Conference has been underway at York.

Some 350 working delegates representing 82 countries around the world are in residence at York attending Bata International's Worldcon '69. Displays of shoes and equipment have been attractively set up in the Vanier and Founders Dining Halls, Common Rooms and in various other locations on campus. These colourful display areas include not only costly items but also strictly guarded new product lines and manufacturing techniques of major interest to competitors. To ensure against "industrial espionage" as well as loss of expensive display items, security staff on campus has been augmented with Bata International's own security officers.

During the period that Bata International is on campus, Food Service facilities are confined to allow maximum space for other purposes. Mr. J.R. Allen, Business Manager, would like to remind faculty and staff members that the Atkinson Coffee House is open at normal meal times and the conditions are much less crowded there.
